

Anders Smedberg

Berättelser om vanliga, men ovanliga människor

50 finländare, fem-munsalabor på TITANIC

Enligt uppgifter var vid olyckan över femtio finländare ombord på Titanic. Av dem var följande hemmahörande i "emigrantkommunen" Munsala.

Jakob Johansson, Bonäs — omkom, bondsdöttern K. J. och A. Wiklund från Morå — båda omkom, bonden Johan Sundman, Morå — räddades men blev ransinnig och Anna Sofia Sjöblom, Munsala — räddades.

Provisionally All the Men on the Liberty Bell and Tombey

When Have Gone Out.

Early this morning word was received in town that there was considerable smuggling going on at Smuggler's at 5 o'clock and many kinds of rumour were afloat. The trouble is only a part of the trouble which has been brewing for some time and as near as the JOURNAL has been able to learn from reliable sources the facts of the case are about as follows:

About 5 o'clock this morning men were stationed on the different hills around Smuggler and the Liberty Bell were opened fire on the office and both houses belonging to the Smuggler Company, and the first rumour to reach town was that eight or ten men had been killed, but this proved not to be true. However, it is positive

